

Survival on Cat Island - Japan

Friday 25 December 2023

Dear diary,

It's a new day today and specifically Christmas. Me and Nefeli, a month before, were thinking about where we could go for Christmas. After a much searching and thought, we found an island in Japan. This island has ten people where they live and sixfold. From them cats, we started with the boat, in 10 minutes we arrived. We have taken a lot of water for us and food for the cats. Finally, we arrived. It's dark outside. We have found a roof to sleep under. We didn't find anyone, everywhere have were cats. After a long time, we built a hut, and we could sleep.

The second day today, because we are very tired from yesterday, we decided to go to the sea to relax. After two hours we went to the hut and made rice with chicken to eat. When we finished, we took the food for the cats, and we fed as many as we could. Afterwards we decided to go back to the hut and play with the cats, until it got dark outside, and we went to sleep.

After the third day dawned, we got up in a hurry because something smelled really bad and then we realized that a cat outside the hut had died. Then I thought of throwing her into the sea to be eaten by the fish, we said that we would take a walk. As we were walking, we saw Pipi (Nefeli's lost cat) and we all returned to the hut. We ate, played and came the time for bed again.

Last day today, and it's true that we had a great time, but we are short of water and food, and we will hardly survive. After much looking for food, we didn't find anything, and being very tired we will go to bed. We woke up to find ourselves surrounded by many cats, the chief of which was Papis. They are starting to eat us; we don't know if we will surv...
